ENAC and ATR launch Integrated Cadet Pilot Program

With the worldwide growth in air traffic expected over the next twenty years, there is a need to recruit a large number of qualified and competent personnel to ensure the effective and safe development of air transport. By creating new synergies between initial and advanced training, ATR and ENAC will more effectively meet the market transformation needs, especially in rapidly growing areas. This new offer is intended for long-standing ATR operators looking for a comprehensive solution and new emerging operators in search of qualified pilots.

ENAC launches its first MOOC !

What is a MOOC ?

A MOOC is a online training open to all and freely accessible. Course participants, teachers and students, are geographically dispersed and communicate only through the Internet.

The ENAC MOOC is made of instructional videos, online course materials, quizzes, and interactive activities. ENAC joins in with many prestigious universities around the world that have chosen to share their knowledge with everyone.

This first edition of the ENAC MOOC "What plane for what mission?" is led by Nicolas Pétheil and Jacques Reynal.
